

Dear Supplier,

The purpose of this form is to receive due diligence information from our suppliers to comply with the new U.S. Conflict Minerals Rule. In addition, it is our intent to only procure materials or services that are "DRC conflict free".

As Stated: Conflict Minerals are defined under the Rule as Cassiterite, Columbite-Tantalite, Gold, Wolframite and three derivatives: Tin, Tantalum, and Tungsten.

To be "DRC conflict free", conflict minerals may not originate from the following countries:

The DRC (Democratic Republic of Congo), Angola, Burundi, Central African Republic, Rwanda, South Sudan, Tanzania, Uganda, Zambia

The diligence required by the rule covers the entire supply chain, back to the origin of the conflict minerals. Accordingly, the rule will in many cases require you to make inquiries of your direct and indirect suppliers.

In support of the global movement for the trading of Conflict-Free minerals, Millennium Microwave Corp. maintains the position that those minerals considered "conflict minerals" will be "DRC conflict free". We maintain written communication from our supply chain showing their acceptance and confirmation of this requirement.

We may use the materials or services that we purchase from you in the manufacturing of our products. Therefore, it is important that your company is taking the necessary steps to ensure the requirement stated above is met.

1. Please complete the table below regarding Conflict Minerals used in the products or services you supply to Millennium Microwave Corp.
2. Please return this letter with completed table via fax or e-mail.
